Home exchange weekend offers chance for families to be in their new dream home by Christmas

If all you want for Christmas is a new home then developers Seddon Homes is offering the opportunity for that dream to come true.

It is holding the latest in a series of home exchange weekends in Shropshire on October 24th and 25th.

Following the high level of interest expressed by visitors to the first such event at its King's Field development at High Heath, Hinstock, last month, Seddon Homes is offering potential buyers another chance to attend an 'open house' with the possibility of securing a new home via a part-exchange deal.

It is an ideal option for home seekers anxious to settle into a new property in time for the festive season but who are worried they may not be able to sell their existing property in time. The weekend provides a means of overcoming the inevitable delays of being stuck in a chain or waiting for the right offer to come along.

It will speed up the whole process and presents a real chance for families to be in their new 'dream home' by Christmas.

During the weekend, mortgage advisers and valuers who will be available to provide potential buyers with the information they need to make a decision there and then about part exchanging their existing property for a high quality new home.

King's Field development includes nine newly built five bedroomed detached houses, and two distinctive barn conversions.

Most of the homes overlook open fields on two sides and some include the option to buy an adjoining piece of land.

Seddon Homes' sales and marketing director, Denis Maddock, said: "Realistically, time is closing in now for anyone who dreams of celebrating Christmas and New Year with their friends and families in a new home, but this weekend can help them do just that. It cuts out all the stresses of being in a chain and guarantees people a fair price for their current property."

King's Field is a rural retreat five miles south of Market Drayton, homes include high spec kitchens, with built-in microwave, freezer and dishwasher, twin electric oven and a five burner gas hob. A main bathroom, en-suite and a separate cloakroom include stylish white suites and quality fittings. Large bedrooms have fitted wardrobes.
