Get instant mortgage advice at Hinstock home exchange weekend

A home exchange weekend is being organised in Shropshire for buyers keen to settle into a new property before Christmas.

Award winning developer, Seddon Homes, is holding an "open-house" at King's Field at High Heath on the edge of the picturesque village of Hinstock, near Market Drayton on Saturday 26th and Sunday 27th September. It is designed to connect buyers who are struggling to sell their existing home with part exchange opportunities.

The King's Field development includes nine newly built prestigious detached houses, and two characterful renovations of former farm buildings. Most of the homes overlook open fields on two sides and some include the option to buy an adjoining piece of land.

Seddon Homes' sales and marketing director, Denis Maddock, said: "The home exchange weekend is designed to speed up the process for people wanting to move house. "There'll be access to mortgage advisors and valuers who will aim to give a decision on part exchanging your existing property, there and then. "If you are serious about moving house, then so are we at Seddon Homes".

All the remaining properties at King's Field will be open and visitors will be able to view them at their leisure.

The spacious, contemporary homes boast light, airy living rooms, high spec kitchens, including built-in microwave, integrated fridge freezer, dishwasher, twin electric oven and a five burner gas hob. A main bathroom, en-suite and a separate cloakroom offer stylish white suites and quality fittings. Large bedrooms include fitted wardrobes.

The development is a short distance from the M54 and Hinstock itself is by-passed by the A41. It easily accessible for Newport and Telford as well as Stafford, Stoke-on-Trent, Market Drayton and Wolverhampton.

Mr Maddock added: "Hinstock is a long established village with a local pub at the heart of the community. "There are very good nearby schools and an excellent village shop catering for your day to day needs."

Seddon Homes, with offices in Stoke-on-Trent and the Midlands, has a reputation for developing homes in sought-after village locations.

King's Field is being developed on the site of a former mushroom farm. It takes its name from the Kingcup mushroom company that used to be located on the site.

The home exchange weekend will be on Saturday 26th and Sunday 27th September between 10.30am and 5.30pm.
